

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A spanner comprises a box end that has an inner periphery consisting of a number of wall faces to define a first polygonal receiving space. Each wall face includes a groove defined therein. The grooves of the wall faces together define a second polygonal receiving space. At 5 least one of the grooves includes a closed first end and an open second end.

2